Martin Hallett Award for

Individual Contribution to Community Heritage

The Victorian Museums and Galleries Awards recognise and celebrate excellence in the sector. They seek to reward collecting organisations and their staff who strengthen Victoria's cultural industry through outstanding work and a commitment to best practice, next practice, diversity and innovation.

Martin Hallett (1945-2019) was a former deputy chief executive of Museums Victoria, curator emeritus, and lifelong champion of public museum collections, community engagement and empowerment. Martin played an integral role in the formation of Victorian Collections during his time at Creative Victoria, and throughout his career, he championed the economic, social and cultural benefits that community collecting organisations offer to regional and metropolitan communities.

In 2020, Victorian Collections and AMaGA Victoria are honouring Martin's significant contributions with the inaugural Martin Hallett Award for Individual Contribution to Community Heritage. This award will recognise and celebrate those who, like Martin, have played a significant role in the preservation of history in their communities.

Victorian Collections is seeking nominations for an outstanding individual who has demonstrated a commitment to the preservation of community heritage through the use of Victorian Collections.

Criteria:

- The contributions made by the individual must be in relation to the use of Victorian Collections
- Achievements and activities referenced in nominations must have commenced or completed within 5 years prior to the nomination
- Contributions can be in relation to one or more organisations' use of Victorian Collections
- Self-nominations are welcome but must be accompanied by at least one letter of support from within the sector
